How to draw water from a bucket.

1. Connect the suction hose to the water inlet on the pressure cleaner and drop the other end into a bucket.
2. Fill up your bucket with water.
3. Connect the Kärcher power cord to an electrically source and turn on at powerpoint. Make sure the high pressure nozzle is not connected and turn the unit on at the on/off switch. Press the trigger on the gun - the unit is ready for use once there is a constant water system.
4. Connect the high pressure nozzle and press the hand trigger to begin cleaning.

The Kärcher Advantage

Manufactured at Kärcher's own plants utilising superior German Design, Engineering and Technology - high quality.

Extensive Australia and New Zealand wide service network - outstanding service and spare parts availability.

Environmentally friendly - reduced water consumption and the possibility to draw water straight from either a tap, bucket or tank.

Achieving exceptional cleaning results - the proof is in a job well done.

Kärcher High Pressure Cleaners

Kärcher high pressure cleaners are up to 35 times more powerful than your standard garden hose whilst using up to 80% less water. They don't need to be attached to a mains tap, as they can draw water straight from a water tank or a bucket. This feature allows our units to comply with the law during periods of high-level water restrictions.

Smart Approved Watermark

Based on average pressure of 4.5 bar with 3500l/hr compared with the flow rate through a Kärcher High Pressure Cleaner being 400-600 litres in the same.

The Kärcher History

In 1935 Alfred Kärcher founded a company which soon became the worldwide leader in cleaning technology. Today our innovative products in the worldamous Kärcher yellow are sold in over 190 countries.
